The ACPassist (Alternative Court Programs Assistant) is a full function application designed to provide technology service and support for the alternative court programs for education and sentencing.

When installed with the COURTassist application, courtroom personnel can quickly access the data they need regarding alternative court programs for education and sentencing. In addition, information about the defendant's status and progress in programs and classes can be looked up, in the courtroom, to provide accurate information quickly.

ACPassist provides comprehensive financial and accounting functions and reports. Financial information can be passed directly to the general ledger system of the Court Management System, COURTassist. Complete audit trail capabilities are an integral part of the application. All accounting functions and reports adhere to generally accepted accounting principles and rules.

ACPassist supports a wide variety of alternative court programs for education and sentence with options ranging from traffic schools, house arrest, community service, and many others. Alternative education support includes such programs as domestic violence sessions, drug and alcohol awareness programs and classes, victim impact education, and third party court approved educational classes and programs. Monitoring for random drug tests and house arrest compliance is supported. Assignment and tracking of counseling sessions is also supported.

One of the key features of the ACPassist module is its flexibility. By utilizing user-defined tables, the module can be customized to address the changing needs of the department. By offering the same "look and feel", users can be quickly trained in any aspect of the module thus offering the ability to cross-train the department personnel.

One of the newer developments occurring in the courts is the implementation of specialty courts such as DUI, drug, and domestic violence. The ACPassist module was designed to provide support for specialty courts. Set-up of the specialty court is easy and straight-forward allowing the court to be more responsive to the needs of the defendant.
